SMS School Mission Statement

- The mission of St. Madeleine School is to assist Catholic families and the community of St. Luke in the formation of their children as Roman Catholic Christians. We do this in a nurturing community of students, faculty, and staff, parents, alumni and friends. We joyfully witness to the Gospel message with its special concern for the sacredness of each person. We see in our children the many faces of God, and welcome people of diverse cultural, religious and ethnic backgrounds. We seek to prepare our students for the intellectual and moral challenges of the 21st century through an academically challenging educational program that respects the learning differences of each student, fosters Christian leadership, and promotes service to the needs of others. We hear the prophet Micah's call "...to act justly, to love tenderly, and to walk humbly with our God..." (Mi 6:8) for the transformation of ourselves and the world.

Growth Mindset/Grit/Mindfulness

- Growth Mindset---Having a growth mindset means understanding that intelligence can be developed.*

A growth mindset is a belief that we can get smarter through hard work and practice. It is the opposite of a Fixed Mindset, where we feel like we can't change our behaviors due to the belief that the brain is a fixed non-changing muscle, that we can't control. This means that struggling with something difficult doesn't mean you're not smart—it's a chance to grow your intelligence. Growth mindset is all about trying hard, using good strategies, and getting the help you need.

- Grit—Why do some children fail, and others succeed? What separates student's who excel at their classes from students who struggle to pass their classes? Is it a high IQ that pushes students to excel in their classes, or is there something else?
- A psychologist and former teacher, Angela Lee Duckworth, has an answer to these questions. After several studies conducted in the military, spelling bees, classrooms, and companies, Angela determined what causes children and adults to excel and succeed; Angela says the one trait that appeared consistent, even from high and low IQ students was: GRIT! She defines grit as "passion and perseverance for very long term goals."
- Mindfulness-We know mindfulness is good for us. Mindfulness allows us to be present in our parenting, choosing the skillful response instead of succumbing to our visceral reactions.
- Mindfulness is also good for our kids. There is an emerging body of research that indicates that mindfulness can help our children improve their abilities to pay attention, to calm down when they are upset, and to make better decisions. In short, it helps with emotional regulation and cognitive focus. Do I even need to ask if you want that for your kids? 😊

Standards-Based Learning, Application and Grading

 Knowledge (What they need to know to succeed)

 Reasoning (How well they can explain it using evidence)

 Performance/Skills (Show and Tell)

 Products (Project based with short and long term goals)

Standards-Based Grading

- 4 = Exceeds grade level expectations
- 3 = Meets grade level expectations
- 2 = Needs to strengthen grade level expectations
- 1 = Needs additional help and/or resources to meet grade level expectations

Behavior/Conduct Grade

- 4=Superiorly and consistently exhibits positive Christian values in the classroom and playground. Rarely needs guidance.
- 3=Generally appropriate behavior, yet needs guidance from time to time.
- 2=Meets school standards, yet often requires guidance and reminding.

Middle School Homework Policy

Middle School – Homework Policy

One of our goals as educators is to teach the importance of accountability and responsibility. In Middle School, homework is assigned in most subject areas daily and is always collected the following day, unless otherwise specified (ex. long term assignments and projects). If a student does not have the necessary work with them on the day and time that it is due, they will receive a zero.

We understand that factors do come into play: sickness, emergencies, etc...and we are flexible in those areas. For example, if a student is sick and unable to complete and hand in his/her work, the student has as many days to turn in work as he/she was sick. If your child is not able to complete an assignment for any other valid reason, simply write a note, send an email, or call the teacher directly saying that he/she was unable to complete it, and he/she will be given an extra day to finish it without penalty. Losing it or bringing it at the end of the day will not be accepted.

We will also offer an R & R weekend at the end of each month, for all students needing extra time to complete any missing assignments. If your child turns in any missing assignment the following Monday, they will be able to receive up to ½ credit for that particular assignment. If the assignment is still missing by Monday morning, it will then be assigned a final grade of “zero”.

We are aware of the strictness of this policy, and we are also very supportive of the positive results that have occurred in other Archdiocesan schools for their Middle School students. Please remember that our goal is to teach accountability, responsibility, organization, and prepare your children for high school. The Middle School team is confident that your child will become more competent through the usage of this system. If you have any further questions or concerns please feel to contact your child’s homeroom teacher.

We look forward to a great year with your child!

Sincerely,

Angela Ensminger

Diane Shepp

Mary Nau

Terry McGuire

Late/Missing Work/Absences

Late Work Policy

Assignments are expected to be turned in on the assigned due date. If an assignment is not turned in on time, the grade will be affected for every day it is late. All late work is excepted. The late work policy is consistent throughout the middle school.

Absences and Tardies

It is the student's responsibility to check with the teacher for make-up work. This includes being absent for an excused event, illness, or any unforeseen event. Students will have one day to make up the work for each day absent. If a student misses a quiz or test, the student will have two days to make up the quiz or test. If the student chooses not to make up the work on time, he/she will not receive points for the work.
